

In 250 words or less: explain the concept of the "static" keyword. You can use a code example.

The static keyword is used in classes when a variable should go over all the objects created and not only to one of them, and when writing code you can use the static keyword to make a variable global.